The Ministers' Council on the Canadian Francophonie promoting the growth of an inclusive and dynamic Francophonie in Canada

Since 1994, the MCCF has brought together the ministers responsible for the Francophonie from Canada's provincial, territorial, and federal governments. Together, they generate collaborations and initiatives that promote the vitality of the Canadian Francophonie.

From the Atlantic to the Pacific to the Arctic, 10 million people share French and Francophone cultures, whether by choice, usage or heritage.
The Francophonie is rooted in Canadian origins and identity.

Expertise

The MCCF influences the expansion of French-language services by focusing on key issues such as bilingual capacity building, service-delivery innovation and cross-sector collaboration. Their work is organized in order to stimulate progress in two main areas:

- o Increasing access to government services in French across the country
- o Enhancing promotion of the Canadian Francophonie

Areas of activity

- o Government services in French
- o Francophone immigration
- o Access to justice
- o Early childhood
- o Bilingual workforce and labour market
- o Francophone economic development

To achieve their objectives, the ministers rely on support from the Intergovernmental Network of the Canadian Francophonie. The Network brings together senior officials responsible for the Francophonie in their respective governments. Their contact information, as well as that of the ministers, can be found on the MCCF website.

Collaborative mechanisms

The sharing of best practices facilitates the development of public policies, while respecting the different linguistic regimes in the country.

Joint events with community stakeholders also help to promote synergy between government action and the needs of Francophone communities.
